Government Seeks Wage-Price Basis Plan To End Strikes

Seek Wage-Price Formula To End Current Unrest

New Reconversion Wage-Price Formula Is Aim Of Government Chiefs

RESUME COAL STRIKE PARLEY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS)—The government today coupled its day-to-day strike mediation with efforts to find a new reconversion wage-price formula which will remove the underlying causes of the nation's current industrial unrest.

Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach prepared to join with federal stabilization chiefs in working out an answer to labor's demand for retention of wartime earnings—a 30 per cent pay boost to offset the loss of overtime under a peacetime work schedule.

Schwellenbach feels that announcement of a definite government policy will enable labor and management to compose their differences and avert a threatened showdown in the automobile, steel and other major reconversion industries.

At the same time, the labor secretary continued his efforts to solve the coal strike controversy—a dispute which does not involve wages and return 163,000 idle miners to their jobs.

United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis and bituminous operators were to meet again today with Schwellenbach.

The secretary said following the second full day of conferences on the coal dispute that "enough progress" was made to warrant another meeting. The Solid Fuels Administration emphasized the gravity of the dispute with a report showing a loss of five million 612 thousand tons of coal since the strikes began September 21.

Nearly 700 Mines Closed

PA Newc Observes
Lawns around the city are greener and look better at the present time than at any period of the summer. Rains of the past few weeks have revived what in summer were badly burned out lawns.

Two candidates for the title of city champion puff-ball finders are Ronald and Richard Johns of R. D. 1, this city, who found two large puff balls weighing five pounds and four and three-fourths pounds respectively. The objects both measure 36 inches around, and, as far as Pa Newc knows, are the largest to be found around here.

Pa Newc's office was brightened up considerably Monday when Mrs. J. T. Clark of English avenue brought in an armful of huge dahlias, some of them 10 and 11 inches across. The flowers were yellow, burgundy red, white and variegated. Mr. Clark has been growing them for about six years, says Mrs. Clark. He has at least 129 bulbs which bloomed this year.

U. S. Stands Firm On Keeping MacArthur In Control Of Japanese

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Secretary of State Byrnes was understood today to have assured the senate foreign relations committee that the United States is standing firm on the issue of keeping Gen. Douglas MacArthur in control of defeated Japan.

Byrnes, partly because of this resistance to a Soviet proposal for a share in Japanese control policy, appeared to have won a vote of confidence from the committee.

Byrnes is Praised
Committee members generally praised Byrnes for making a "full and frank report" in a 2½-hour closed door session with foreign relations members. It was the secretary's first contact with his former colleagues since returning from the unsuccessful London conference of foreign ministers.

While most members shied away from commenting directly on details of what they were told about U. S. foreign policy in Europe, South America and Japan, sympathy for Byrnes' position and support for his stand at London appeared to extend into Republican as well as Democratic ranks.

Japanese Gold Seized By U. S.

More Than Two Hundred And Fifty Million Dollars Worth Held

TOKYO, Oct. 9.—(INS)—United States seizure of more than 250 million dollars worth of Japanese gold, silver and platinum reserves was disclosed today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's occupation headquarters.

The amount included 12 million dollars worth of army and navy gold which the Japanese government did not know existed.

Jap army and navy chiefs, according to Gen. MacArthur's headquarters, had not accounted for a single penny of their expenditures since the China war started in 1937.

Behind In Reports
Army and navy paymasters were two to three years behind in their official reports.

American forces began seizing hoarded Japanese bullion several days ago by closing all banks. Among their seizures yesterday were the imperial army headquarters, the navy ministry, military arsenals in Tokyo and Osaka and precious metal companies and their warehouses.

Seized were more than 58 ounces of gold bullion, silver bullion and gold coin valued in excess of 250 million dollars, plus 33,400 ounces of platinum and 27,122,417 Japanese yen in silver coin.

Guard Against Disappearance
Allied authorities said searches and seizures were designed to make certain the precious metal reserves did not disappear. It was hinted that some Japanese generals may have grown fabulously rich through the (Continued on Page Two)

Communist Leader In Chungking Slain

CHUNGKING, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Negotiations for a complete accord between the Central Government of China and the Communists were halted abruptly today by the bullet of an assassin who shot and killed Li Shao-Shih, secretary general of the Chinese Communist party in Chungking.

It was as yet too early to determine what effect the untimely death of Li would have on conferences for a political agreement.

Li was shot yesterday while riding in an automobile in suburban Chungking.

The assassination marred the announcement last evening that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist party, the Kuomintang, and the Communists had reached a partial agreement. The statement had expressed optimism that a complete accord on Nationalist-Communist problems could be reached and that a joint communique could be issued soon.

Plan Election For Japanese At Early Date

New Japanese Cabinet Takes Up Trembling Reins Of Government

MANY LAWS ARE TO BE REVISED

By JOHN R. HENRY (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO, Oct. 9.—Premier Baron Kijuro Shidehara's carefully chosen cabinet took up the trembling reins of Japanese government today and the elderly new premier disclosed that a general election would be held in his war-torn nation as soon as possible.

In revealing the government's intention of holding an election at an early date, Shidehara in effect served notice on members of the Diet (parliament) that they must cooperate with the new cabinet or face dissolution.

Revamp Educational System
He also pledged a general revamping of the Japanese educational system and the elimination of abuses practiced under Shintoism, the religion making the emperor both god and chief of state.

On several questions including those concerning Japanese war guilt, Shidehara hedged cautiously until the hour-long interview was abruptly (Continued on Page Two)

Thunderous Welcome Is Given Admiral Nimitz In New York

Admiral Declares U. S. Must Maintain Adequate Seapower To Keep Peace Secure

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz told a cheering crowd of New Yorkers today that adequate seapower must be retained to ensure that America does not lose the peace.

Nimitz spoke from city hall after driving from LaGuardia air field through streets crowded with millions of men, women and children who turned out in a thunderous welcome for the naval hero.

The fighting admiral accepted the celebration on behalf of the men who served in the Pacific under his command and said that any glory which may be attached to victories in that theater belongs primarily to them. Then, in fighting words, he declared:

"We must make certain now and for the future that the peace is secure. We must remain strong. We must retain adequate sea power to ensure that we do not lose the peace."

"Never again should we risk the threat which weakness invites. We owe this to the men who have fought and to the youngsters who are growing up today. Let us give our next generation a heritage of strength so that our citizens may live without having to spend their blood in battle."

Nimitz on his drive through the city was accompanied by 13 navy and Marine Corps congressional aides of honor winners. Some 4,000 navy, marine and coast guard personnel marched as escort for part of the route.

War Department Declares Surplus Huge Butter Supply

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS)—The War department declared 80 million pounds of butter surplus today and turned it over to the Agriculture department for disposal to civilian agencies.

Strike Forces Freight Embargo

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(INS)—The Association of American Railroads announced today that they had placed an embargo on all shipments to New York of freight for export.

The move came after 30,000 dock workers continued their strike although they moved for a truce under which they could return to work on Thursday.

J. J. Pelley, president of the association, said the embargo was necessary to prevent congestion caused by the eight-day-old strike of the stevedores.

Expect House Will Pass Tax Bill This Week

Ways And Means Committee To Present Measure To House Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS)—The House Ways and Means committee will report favorably today the five billion 319 million dollar tax reduction bill, with confident expectations that it will be passed by the House before the week-end.

The measure, embodying relief for both individuals and corporations, must still go through Senate hearings and be approved by the Upper House before it becomes law.

As drawn by the House Group, the first tax reduction bill in sixteen years gives more relief to individuals and less to corporations than was proposed in the administration's program presented last week by Treasury Secretary Fred M. Vinson.

Effective January 1
The measure, a "quickie" bill, is designed to become effective next January 1, for all purposes except excise taxes, which will return to the 1942 levels on July 1, next.

Individuals will receive two billion 600 million dollar benefit under the bill as it now stands, through increases in exemptions for the three percent normal tax, a reduction of four percentage points in the surtax rates, and a guarantee that rates in the higher brackets will be adjusted to net all taxpayers at least a 10 percent reduction. The treasury had proposed individual tax reductions which would have saved them two billion eighty-five million dollars.

Atomic Bomb Is Given Credit For Shortening War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson told Congress today that the atomic bomb "cut months from the probable length of the war" and saved the lives of thousands of American soldiers.

"We would have won without the bomb," he informed the House Military Affairs committee, "but thousands of American soldiers who are alive today would have died before final victory was achieved."

Patterson added that the winning of the war seemed a "minor matter by comparison with the importance of applying fully and controlling wisely the power of the atom."

Seven Submarines Will Be Scrapped

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Seven Navy submarines, all credited with enviable Pacific war records, today were headed for the scrap-heap.

The subs, decommissioned and stripped of their gear, are anchored at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. Dealers who want them for scrap metal may submit bids to the Navy Disposal Administration up until November 8.

Included are the Nautilus, which landed Carlson's Raiders on Makin Island, and its sister ship, the Narwhal. These two submarines were built at a cost of $12,740,000, and were credited with 34 sinkings and two probable sinkings.

Fourth Naval District spokesmen said the total tonnage of metal for sale would be about 85,000 tons.

Laval To Face Firing Squad Is Verdict Of Jury

PARIS, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Pierre Laval, former Vichy premier, was condemned to death before a firing squad this afternoon for treason against France.

A high court of justice jury, deliberating less than 45 minutes, handed down the verdict of guilty and recommended the death sentence as demanded by Prosecutor Andre Morhet.

Laval Refused To Attend
Laval, who was accused of having intelligence with the enemy and weakening the internal security of the state, had steadfastly refused to return to the courtroom from which he had been expelled twice in stormy sessions.

Neither Laval, nor his attorneys or witnesses, would return to the courtroom during the last three days of the trial which the defendant described as a "farce."

The case went to the jury after Morhet, in his summation, declared that Laval "always intended not to be judged." The prosecutor added: "Laval's refusal to appear is his supreme defense, his supreme tactic. He is a gambler and plays until the end, thinking they (the jury) will not dare—but I dare."

U. S. Will Keep A-Bomb Secret Says President

Truman Announces Atomic Bomb Secret Will Not Be Revealed To Any Nation

U. S. ONLY NATION POSSESSING SECRET

By ROBERT G. NIXON (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

REELFOOT LAKE, Tenn., Oct. 9.—President Truman placed the United States today in the fateful role of holding the balance for lasting world peace with his emphatic declaration that this country never will reveal the secret of the devastating atomic bomb to any other nation.

The chief executive will make his full recommendations to the Congress some time in the future on the control of the use of atomic energy in warfare, but, pending that, he let the world know in dramatic fashion last night that the United States will never reveal the secret of this cataclysmic power to the world.

No Reservation
He made the assertion without reservation in characteristic surprise manner at a front porch news conference at the fishing lodge at which he is taking a couple of days rest near this Tennessee fishing resort.

The United States, he said, is the only country in the world that has the know-how to make the atomic bomb that brought Japan's swift unconditional surrender and ended World War II after two of the bombs, one on each city, were dropped on and wiped out the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

This nation holds that fateful secret, Mr. Truman declared, and is the only nation that has it and never will share it with any other.

The president did not except Great Britain and Canada, whom he described as our partners in developing and mutually researching the atomic bomb secret.

Former Bellevue School Principal Files Court Suit

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9.—(INS)—H. E. Brumbaugh, former Bellevue school supervising principal, had a suit on file in Allegheny county court today asking reinstatement with back pay because he had been ousted without a hearing or charges.

Brumbaugh said the school board declared the position vacant and suspended his contract. Arnold F. Hayward, the board's president, had previously threatened to "run me out of the teaching profession," Brumbaugh said.

In his suit, Brumbaugh contended charges had to be filed and a hearing held under the teachers tenure law before he could be fired. The contract was suspended effective July 2, 1944.

Hank Borowy To Hurl For Cubs

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Hank Borowy today was named by Manager Charles Grimm as the Cubs' pitcher in tomorrow's seventh and final game of the world series.

The announcement was made through the Cubs' publicity office and added: "That's all he (Grimm) had to say."

Borowy, purchased by the Cubs from the New York Yankees in mid-season for $100,000, hurled and won the opening game of the series, started Sunday's game, and was knocked out of the box, and was credited with the Cubs' 12-inning 8 to 7 victory yesterday.

He was the fourth Cub pitcher to work against the Detroit Tigers yesterday, going into the game in the eighth inning.

Rotarians See How Bell Phone Aided War Effort

Telephone Company Prepared For War Possibilities Several Years In Advance

How the Bell Telephone company, sensing that war was inevitable, took precautions to see that the lines of communication across the country were protected against possible damage from bombings was shown members of the Rotary club at their noon luncheon meeting Monday. Pictures showing the development of the coaxial cable, and the laying of an underground cable across the western half of the nation were shown by R. H. Junk of Pittsburgh, an official of the engineering department of the company.

Through the co-axial cable it is possible to send almost 500 messages on one wire, which travel in a scrambled mass of electric impulses along the cable and are sorted out at the other end of the line and delivered in the form of their original message. Four of these coaxial cables are contained in a cable the size of the old type cable, with additional cable wires of the old type.

When war loomed on the horizon the company started laying an underground line similar to the one which comes through here to the local repeater station from the east, between the Middle West and the Pacific coast.

A huge pole device which dug a slit in the earth 30 inches deep and buried the cable at the bottom of it was devised and drawn by two tractors, moved across the country, through all kinds of terrain. One started from the Midwest and the other from the Pacific coast, meeting at the Nevada-Utah boundary line. It was completed in several years less time than would normally take for such an undertaking.

supervisory employees. Six hundred and seventy-five mines now are closed with a daily production loss of 904,000 tons.

The government's efforts to find an answer to the broader question underlying industrial strife—labor's wage demands—got underway with conferences among Schwelmbach, War Labor Board Chairman George W. Taylor and Economic Stabilizer John C. Collet of Kansas City.

Collet will call a conference within a day or two of labor, OPA, WLB, reconversion and stabilization officials to chart the government's course on the 30 per cent wage demand advanced by labor as its reconversion goal, Schwelmbach said.

Need For Program

The urgent need for such a government program is underscored by approaching strike ballots in General Motors, Chrysler and Ford plants throughout the country.

The governments' present policy permits voluntary wage boosts which do not require price increases. Those which would affect prices must receive Collet's approval and labor's 30 per cent demand, industry contends, falls in that category.

Hence, the need for government guidance—both industry and labor—as to what will be allowed. WLB Chairman Taylor outlined two ways of approaching the problem—(1) Through so-called "test cases" sent through the WLB-OPA-OES machinery; (2) Development of an overall policy through agreement among various federal agencies concerned.

Although the Japanese Air Force still possessed considerable equipment at the end of the war, the Nips had few pilots, little gas, not enough mechanics and no spare parts.

At war's end, Kenney pointed out, the U. S. Fifth, 13th and 20th Air Forces were approaching the 5,000-plane goal and shortly would have been able to drop 8,000 tons of bombs a day on Japan.

U. S. WILL KEEP A BOMB SECRET SAYS PRESIDENT

answering questions put to him, but his own words were that this country would not share the secret with any other country, even.

Real Secret Held By U. S.

Scientific knowledge of atomic energy, Mr. Truman said, is accessible to many other nations, but the real secret of the atomic bomb is the "know-how" of its construction and how it is made to work, the mineral resources from which uranium is extracted, and above all, the vast industrial plants built in this country in which the atomic bomb finally came into being.

Much of this industrial plant, which together with four years research cost the nation two billion six hundred million dollars, was itself the secret creation of scientific research as the search for the bomb secret was being carried on.

Britain and Canada shared in the research and development of the bomb as the nation's partners, the president said, but without exception, no nation, in his opinion, is able to make the bomb.

The atomic bomb was used against Japan with the knowledge and consent of Great Britain and Canada as our war allies. Winston Churchill, then prime minister, was acquainted with the complete results of the explosion of the first atomic bomb experimentally July 16 on the New Mexico desert, at the Potsdam conference. It was agreed there by Mr. Churchill and the president that the bomb should be used on military targets in Japan after they turned down the Potsdam surrender ultimatum.

President Truman also told Generalissimo Stalin that a new bomb of devastating power had been discovered and would be used against Japan, but the nature of its secret was not divulged to him.

The president said he will send a message to Congress with his recommendations for control and preservation of the atomic bomb secret as an instrument of world peace at a later date, but not soon. Much thought, he said, must go into that recommendation.

atomic control under a presidentially appointed nine-member commission.

If we misapply the knowledge we now have or fail to carry forward our research with the utmost vigor, we may be passing a sentence of death on the future of our own country and the entire world," the secretary warned.

Patterson declared that the legislation bears the full support of President Truman.

Patterson told the committee that the question of turning over the secret to some other nation or world group was not involved in the legislation.

The question of international control or interchange of information concerning atomic energy is not determined by this legislation," he stated.

Patterson emphasized that the bill specifically prohibited the atomic energy commission from granting any information or rights to foreign nations without the express approval of the President.

In Appreciation

Three years last May, I was called into the Armed Service. During this period many privileges have been sacrificed which were ordinarily enjoyed in peace times. I owe a sincere appreciation to my sister and brother-in-law, for successful management of my business, "The Cubby-Hole S. S.," 103 N. Mercer St.

I also realize that only through my faithful customers as well as very close friends, the business has continued successfully. Now I am back and anxious to meet my old customers as well as get acquainted with the many new ones. Thanks is also extended to the waitresses. Foodstuffs have been limited but in the near future we hope to be able to serve you in a much more desirable manner.

terminated by an aide who reminded the premier he had another appointment.

A general revision of many laws will be made, Shidehara declared. He specifically mentioned the "thought control code" and other statutes necessarily outmoded by defeat.

Expressing hope that the Diet would cooperate in passing new measures and amending old laws, he pointed out that the present legislative body had none into office seven years ago and grown unpopular during recent years.

Go Directly to People
"We can go directly to the people if the Diet declines to cooperate," Shidehara declared, indicating that his cabinet intends to rush through critical reconstruction plans for conquered Nippon.

Uppermost tasks of the new government, he said, will be to alleviate food, housing, clothing and unemployment problems facing the nation.

The premier added that he hoped it would be possible to use stripped warships of the Japanese Navy to haul excess foodstuffs purchased from Korea and China.

He also mentioned the possibility that Japan may be forced to secure short term credits from abroad to cope with post-war emergencies.

"So far, Shidehara declared, "I don't think there have been any major disturbances as a result of the food shortage, but I don't exclude the possibility of general unrest if the food situation turns worse."

EXPECT HOUSE WILL PASS TAX BILL THIS WEEK

business faced slightly poorer under the committee's plan, than under the treasury program.

Corporation Tax Cuts
Corporation excess profits taxes were reduced to 60 percent while the surtax rate was cut from 16 to 12 percent. This will save them one billion 674 million during the coming year. The excess profit tax will be eliminated December 31, 1946.

In addition, the capital stock tax was repealed, at an additional saving of 300 million dollars.

The measure calls for a reduction of wartime excise taxes on such commodities as whisky, beer, guns, jewelry etc. on July 1, next to the levels that prevailed in 1942. This reduction, plus tax returns on floor stocks on that date will cost the treasury 750 million dollars.

Finally, the bill calls for the repeal of the auto use stamp tax, at a loss of 135 million.

At Japanese army and navy headquarters, the Americans also searched records in an effort to learn what happened to loot taken from occupied countries. Disposal of photo records and funds to protect them from bomb damage made the search for them most difficult.

FAITH RE-CONVERSION

All business, both large and small, are planning at this time to get changed over to pre-war conditions.

We, among others, have been planning this for the last three years, or ever since the war began, as we knew it would come. We were prepared at all times, during the war, to take care of our customers, both in our Wholesale and Retail Departments.

Right now, at the time when everything is at a standstill, we have one of the largest and most up-to-date stocks of post-war caskets and funeral supplies in this part of the country. Our selection is such, that it would seem impossible, even though it were peace times.

The Reading Circle gathered for its first meeting of the season on Monday afternoon in the dining room of the First Methodist church where a most delicious luncheon was served with arrangements in charge of the social committee. Mrs. L. N. Haught, Mrs. Wilbur Flannery and Mrs. Henry Stone.

Tables were beautifully decorated with autumn flowers and candles, carrying out the club colors of purple and gold. Centering the table was a basket formed from a huge pumpkin filled with October fruits. Several guests were present.

Mrs. H. D. Harlan, retiring president, thanked members for their cooperation these past difficult years. "The world has stepped forward since last we met—and who would not want to take part in this record-making epoch—" was the theme of the most interesting speech of the new president, Mrs. John Z. Street. She reviewed the many events that transpired in the war, the atomic bomb, politics, production, styles, sports and peace in the short period since last May.

Mention was made of the new special Victory Bond campaign, October 15 to December 15, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's clubs to benefit wounded veterans in hospitals.

Federation Committees
Those appointed by the new president to Federation committees were: American home, Mrs. R. R. McGee; citizenship, Mrs. Arthur Mackey; conservation and gardens, Mrs. Laura Parker; education, Mrs. Eva Campbell; finance, Mrs. C. R. Kennaday; fine arts, Mrs. George W. Conway; program, Mrs. B. M. Rogers; publicity, Mrs. T. L. Nixon; public welfare, Mrs. Dean Staley.

At the conclusion of business, Mrs. C. R. Kennaday of the program committee presented Mrs. B. E. Sankey and Mrs. Eva Campbell, who were in charge of the day's entertainment.

Classroom Program
The assemblage was converted into a typical grade 7 classroom during a Friday Afternoon Literary Society meeting with Miss Eva Campbell as teacher. The following program was presented:

Vocal solo—"In the Gloaming" by Marjorie Rogers, accompanied by Helen Ingham at the piano. Original essay—Pauline Stitzinger. Recitation—"Barbara Fritchie" by Ethel Ferver.

HURST-DAVIES
WEDDING AT HOME

Miss Helen Hurst, daughter of Mrs. Ada G. Hurst, Highland avenue, and Norman H. Davies, 1375 Meadowbrook avenue, Warren, O., were united in marriage at a quiet ceremony solemnized on Monday afternoon, October 8, at 2 o'clock.

Vows were exchanged in the home of the bride's mother, with only members of the immediate families present. Dr. Robert Meade Patterson, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, was the officiating minister. He used the impressive double ring service.

For her marriage, the bride was attired in a brown crepe street length dress with matching accessories, accented with a shoulder corsage of yellow roses and baby nuns. They were unattended.

Upon returning in two weeks, they will be "at home" at 1375 Meadowbrook avenue, Warren, O., where he is affiliated with the Baltimore & Ohio railroad as a machinist. The bride was associated with the local Pennsylvania Power Co. for several years prior to her resignation.

ROBINSON STEVENSON
WEDDING OCCURS

At a lovely wedding performed on Saturday evening, October 6, Miss Nancy G. Robinson became the bride of W. Floyd Stevenson, at the residence of her mother, Mrs. John C. Robinson, Mahoning town, R. D. 7, in the presence of guests numbering upwards of fifty. The ceremony was solemnized at 7 o'clock before an improvised altar in the livingroom, ferns, palms and seasonal bouquets being effectively used. Rev. W. William B. Beers, pastor of Neshannock Presbyterian church, New Wilmington, was the officiating minister. He used the double ring service.

Given in marriage by her brother, Wilbur Robinson, the bride was attractive in her gown of white brocade satin, made floor length. Her finger tip fell from a matching cap edged with orange blossoms, and she carried an arm bouquet of white rosebuds with streamers knotted with bits of fern and smaller rose buds.

Miss Martha Scott of Butler, Pa., was asked to be maid of honor. She chose an aqua taffet toe length gown with contrasting accessories, with a floral headpiece. Pink roses formed her arm bouquet.

Ben K. Stevenson of New Castle, and recently honorably discharged from the U. S. Eighth Army, served as best man.

Adding further to the impressiveness of the occasion, Miss Margaret Duff of Pulaski, offered the nuptial program of music. Included in her selections were "At Dawning," "I Love You Truly," "Because," "Leibstrum" and the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, all favorites of the bride.

A congratulatory period followed. Afterwards, a reception featured with a buffet lunch served. Prominently placed was the bride table appointed in the nuptial motif, pink and white tones predominating. Aides were college classmates of the bride, Miss Mary Heisey of New Brighton, Miss Janet Thompson of Slippery Rock, Miss Sara McCormick of Butler and Miss Jane Fleming of Aspinwall.

Later in the evening, the couple left on a Canadian trip. Upon returning to New Castle they will take up residence for the present at 311 West Clayton street.

The bride, a graduate of Slippery Rock State Teachers college, is a teacher of kindergarten in the New Brighton schools. She also attended Columbia University.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Stevenson, R. D. 4, New Castle, a graduate of Princeton, was honorably discharged from the U. S. Armed Forces on September 16, Indian town Gap as a sergeant. He served 37 months overseas with the 62nd Ordnance Ammunition Battalion and took part in the campaigns of Sicily, Naples, Foggia, Rome, Anzio, Southern France, Rhineland and Central Europe. Mr. Stevenson wears the Good Conduct Medal, European-African and Middle East Service Medal with six Bronze Stars.

At a suitable time a tasty birthday luncheon was served by the hostess, with Mrs. Nellie Maccaroni and Melvina Puffilo aides. A large randlelighted birthday cake topped the centerpiece.

It Kept Down the Toll

A survey of service discharges and induction records reveals that more than 2,300,000 men and women were unable to serve in America's armed forces because of mental or emotional disorders or inaptitudes. The figure, representing 18 per cent of the services' peak wartime strength, seems shockingly high. To judge by the bare statistics alone it would seem that a depressingly large proportion of this country's young men and women are emotionally or mentally unstable.

But this conclusion is not borne out by a more careful examination of the figures and the conditions which produced them.

One of the major reasons why the total reached such a level is the fact that Army and Navy doctors realized, more clearly than in the past, what a terrific strain modern combat puts upon the individual. When the pressure of battle is such that even the strongest and fittest are pushed to the limit of endurance, it is a waste of time to induct and train the nervous, unstable and high-strung. The large total of rejections reflects the great care taken by Army and Navy doctors to screen out men who were considered likely to crack up.

Most of these men are unfit only by tough, wartime standards, not by the normal standards of civilian life. And if the total of rejections seems high, the nation can be thankful that the weeding out was done so carefully and conscientiously. That work helped keep casualty lists down.

As it was, the armed services had to discharge some 476,000 men for mental-emotional disorders largely due to battle strain or was termed shell-shock in World War I.

In Peaceful Fields

On every hand, in the midst of the effort to raise and harvest food, in the clearing of ruined villages, in the rebuilding of roads, the peoples of Europe's war-ravaged countries still are braving sudden death in the form of German mines.

There are millions of mines, live bombs and "traps" in France alone. It is estimated that it will take three years to "de-mine" France's mines, although more than 5,000,000 have been destroyed in the last 18 months.

In densely-mined regions as many as twenty-five have been removed from each small house. They are everywhere—wherever battle lines were momentarily static—sown in the forests and the fields.

Casualties are high in the detection and removal business. But there is grim justice in the fact that of 27,000 persons clearing mines in France, 25,000 are German prisoners.

Armed Forces Women

Congress will determine eventually whether feminine branches of the various armed forces will be continued. There is sentiment for the retention of these women who demonstrated their worth and fitness during the war. But if Congress approves this proposal it could save money for the country and doubtless increase the efficiency of the service by ending the conflict and confusion that exist between auxiliaries and authorizing one uniform and one title for all.

Women auxiliaries, tried as an experiment, caught on. Immediately the Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard began to compete for volunteers. Each had a different name, a different uniform. With many young women who were influenced by the recruiting campaigns, it was not so much a case of joining the WAC, WAVES, Spars or Marines, but rather deciding which uniform was most becoming. The appeal was somewhat similar to that exerted by a style show. A girl may have preferred the Army but she thought the Marine uniform was more attractive.

Time, money and effort would have been conserved if all of these patriotic women had been taken into one service and clothed alike. If they are to be continued during the era of peace, one name and one service may clear up the confusion.

A New Canal?

Three giant United States aircraft carriers, constructed in days when it looked as if the war against Japan would last longer, are too big to go through the Panama Canal. To get to the Pacific they will have to sail around Cape Horn or go eastward through the Indian Ocean. They are the Midway, already commissioned; the Franklin D. Roosevelt, launched but not commissioned; and the Coral Sea, still under construction. They are 45,000 tonners.

The Navy's battleships of the Iowa class, 45,000 tons, scrape through the Panama Canal with a clearance of inches.

This is significant in view of the fact that in the next few years there probably will be agitation anew for large public works projects to aid employment. There will be enough work at home in constructing new homes when the building industry is permitted to function, but the Nicaragua Canal, long in the blueprint stage, is almost assured of Congressional approval. It will be bigger than the Panama Canal and capable of clearing any vessel.

The greater volume of American trade in the Pacific, the more pressure there will be on America to relieve the burden on the Panama Canal.

Two Jobs In One

A layman is, perhaps, poorly qualified to appraise the reorganization of the Navy's top command which President Truman has just ordered. To judge the merits of a reshuffle, which includes abolition of the position of commander in chief of the United States Fleet and transfer of its functions to the Chief of Naval Operations, one needs an expert knowledge of how the Navy is run.

It can be said, however, that the proposal marks no radical departure from the setup which functioned magnificently during the greater part of the war. The fact that there were two separate offices made little difference as Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King held both posts.

This has naturally left the public with a rather vague idea of what the separate functions of the two offices are. As Fleet Commander-in-Chief Admiral King acted as "the principal naval adviser to the President" and held command of all fleets, sea-going forces and shore establishments. As Chief of Naval Operations he was responsible for the readiness and logistical support of the operating forces of the Navy and had authority to coordinate the Navy's bureaus and offices.

Whether these functions can be combined successfully in the future depends somewhat on whether other men can be found capable of carrying this double load. However, it would be just as well to wait for the report of the special board, headed by Undersecretary Bard, which has been assigned the task of drawing up a specific plan of reorganization based on the executive order.

In the meantime Admiral King will carry on and this gives the public the assurance that naval affairs will be conducted as ably as in the past.

Truman Nears End Of First Half Year

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Nearing the end of his first half year in the presidency, Harry S. Truman is moving briskly about the country, renewing old acquaintances and making new friends.

Surely no president can ever have worked harder than the good gray citizen who today occupies the highest office in the land.

He is usually at his desk by eight o'clock or shortly after. The number of people he talks with each day is remarkable. They are paced in and out on a clockwork schedule.

President Truman is eager to see anyone who can help him. It is his willingness that stands out above everything else. He opens himself almost too freely to invitations and appointments.

Air Cleared

In the reaction that followed President Roosevelt's death, the air was cleared of much of the bitterness and backbiting that had centered around Roosevelt, the symbol.

Good will carried Roosevelt's successor a long way.

It went with the tide of victory that flowed strong from May into the early fall.

The era of good will is now definitely over. The good gray President must make decisions which will divide friend from foe, new dealer from old dealer, conservative from progressive.

This is true in big issues as well as in those that do not loom so large on the national skyline. There is a kind of great divide in national affairs and President Truman stands on the brink, still, it would seem, hoping to keep his friends on both sides of it.

The President is speaking at Gilbertville, Kentucky, in connection with the dedication of TVA's Gilbertville dam. It is the final power dam in TVA's mighty system and therefore, in a sense, the occasion marks the completion of that great experiment.

Congress Still Troubled

But Congress still seems troubled over the terms of the TVA experiment. The Tennessee Valley authority, under the TVA act, was given independence of action. The authority was not required to turn its receipts into the general fund of the treasury, nor was it compelled to come to Congress for annual appropriation.

Obviously, the far-flung operation like TVA could not be kept at the end of a congressional leash. Congress does have the opportunity, of course, to go over all TVA transactions and question even the smallest voucher.

This, however, is not enough for some congressmen. The most notorious enemy of TVA, Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, has never abandoned his efforts to get the authority under the thumb of Congress. It happens that Senator McKellar is also one of the most diligent patronage grabbers in the Senate, which may have something to do with his attitude on TVA.

Others use the pretext of economy to try to get TVA called to heel. From the valley itself have come emphatic protests against this move. In a long editorial, the Chattanooga Times declares that such action by Congress would be an abrogation of the solemn contract entered into with the people of the valley.

That basic contract, the TVA act, which gave the TVA 130 power distributing agencies are not buying power. Some 550,000 consumers are buying cheap electricity.

"Every one of them," says the Times editorial, "uses twice as much electricity as he used before the inauguration of the TVA."

The editorial presents some other interesting facts. Between 1933 and 1940 the number of manufacturing establishments in the Tennessee valley increased 53 percent, while the increase for the country as a whole was 30 percent. Wholesale trade in the valley increased 80 percent, the nationwide increase being 46 percent. Comparable figures for retail trade were 63½ percent and 46½ percent.

Possibly the TVA—government working with private business to raise all levels of living—is a bridge across the political divide. Many of Truman's friends, like Senator McKellar, are on the opposite side.

But on the other side are millions of people who know what TVA has done.

The State Police Say:

After the wreck, comes the reckoning. If you were ever involved in an automobile accident you know the reckoning won't be easy. Even if there were no doctor bills or lawsuits to worry about, you probably found that there were numerous questions to be answered, official forms to be filled out, property damage to be paid for, and perhaps days or weeks of irritating delay and inconvenience.

Multiply all the details of your accident by several million and you realize that the task of reckoning 1944's history of automobile smashups was both tragic and expensive.

Hints On Etiquette

If a late guest arrives at a gathering in your home while another guest is giving an informal chat in which everyone is interested, do not break in on the talk to introduce the newcomer, but ask him to go on, saying, "I am sure Mr. Brown will be very much interested in what you are saying." This is an indirect introduction, and later, maybe, you would present Mr. Brown formally to the speaker.

"FLYTRAP" FINNEGAN, THE WORLD'S WORST CADDIE

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:45. Sun rises tomorrow 5:55.

A great many people think pictures of themselves are terrible. And some are.

Nothing that embarrasses people is ever funny.

We heard of a jewelry store out west that is advertising, "We rent wedding rings."

The man who waits for something to turn up usually finds it under his toes.

Most of us know enough, but few of us do enough.

VALUABLE ANIMAL

In a mountain school the teacher, anxious to get started on some subject that would be familiar to the kids, hit on the idea of talking about fur.

"What animal is most noted for its fur?" she asked.

To her surprise the class dumbly put up its hand.

"The skunk," he said. "The more fur you get away from him the better it is for you."

The sweetest ring of all is the ring of the cash register.

The beauty parlors prove that self-preservation is the first law of nature.

Many a man gets credit for being smart by just sitting tight and listening.

People who sing while they work rarely call in the doctor.

The other evening we got off the bus and were walking the rest of the way home when we saw a middle-aged man and woman walking on the sidewalk across the street.

Suddenly he thrust his arms around her and you could hear the kiss away over where we were. Then they went about arm in arm until they halted and he snatched her again. They giggled and then hugged with every appearance of great satisfaction.

We watched enraptured. Just like a pair of young lovers, we thought. No one seeing them ever would think they were married.

They were not.

It takes a good liar to convince his wife that it would be a fine thing for him to join another lodge.

It would be great if dinner invitations suggested an hour for departure as well as an hour for arrival.

We've just read about the man who got indigestion because he ate too fast. He was an ironworker and from force of habit he always boiled his food.

LOOKED AHEAD

Teacher: "Who was the smartest inventor?"

Pupil: Thomas A. Edison. He invented the phonograph and radio so people would stay up all night and use his electric light bulbs."

Have you heard about the husband-hunting gal who had the misfortune to be wearing her father's jacket when the boy friend peeped the question and asked her to clope? She had to refuse. Said it would look terrible when the newspaper headlines read: "Flee in Father's Pants."

A Belgian says we don't know what it is to tremble at a knock on the door. Did he never hear of bill collectors?

An upper-bracket income is one that make you too proud to keep on working for the little that is left after taxes are paid.

A prominent local citizen attended a cocktail party and noted that an acquaintance seemed to be talking about quite a load.

"Bill," the prominent citizen advised at length, "don't you think you've had about enough? This is the tenth time I've seen you up setting another drink. They'll all think you're an awful soak."

"No, they won't," said Bill. "I keep telling them I'm getting the drinks for you."

The train stopped in the middle of a field.

"What was it, conductor," asked a curious passenger.

"We hit a cow," the trainman said briefly.

"Was it on the track?"

"Not at all, sir," the conductor explained politely. "We always chase the cows into a barn before we run over them."

It isn't all a matter of "race." America can match any land's furthest gentlemen or its fondest criminals.

A quart of Scotch costs $300 in Chumking, but it gives extra value. You can make a fool of yourself before drinking it.

Ninety-three years ago, Perry taught the Japs "fearless and deceitful." We learn fast but forget faster.

SOUNDS LIKELY

A couple of motor enthusiasts were bragging about their cars. Speaking of power, snorted one, "my car can't be stopped on the hills."

Mine was that way, too, until I had the brakes fixed," said the other.

The progressive school uses common sense. Nobody would think of training a sheep dog as he trains one to hunt bunnies.

It's easy to stand outside and criticize, but even school kids should know that we can't use our great influence until we decide what to do.

Now that seven dogs has been made practical it's feared some man won't be satisfied with just moving the furniture around. She'll probably want to reknit it, too.

Rationing ends, the world series gets underway—and there we are, again, once more standing in line.

Odd points out the man at the next desk, but it is usually the colleges that are having a poor season, which are most wanted over neutral microphones.

SERVING DINNER WITHOUT SERVANT

"Answer these for me please: (1) May a visitor be called upon to say Grace at the dinner table? (2) Where should my set of shelves containing fresh dishes and room for used dishes be placed in my dining room during dinner? (3) Must plates always be passed to the left, even when there is no need to serve? (4) What is the rule for passing plates? Who gets the first one, etc. etc. (5) If the host serves the meal, when does he serve the hostess? (6) Where are the guests-of-honor seated? (7) Is it permissible for the host to serve the meat and the hostess to serve the vegetables?"

Answer: (1) If the visitor is a clergyman yes.

(2) By both side, since you, as hostess, will do the serving.

(3) Those for guests on the left, yes. Those for guests on the right should be passed to the right.

(4) The person farthest from the one doing the serving. If there is no servant to carry the plates around, guests will have to pass them.

(5) After he has served the guests and before he serves himself.

(6) The woman guest-of-honor should be seated to the host's right. The man guest-of-honor to the hostess' right.

If the carving is done in the kitchen and the hostess serves vegetables at the table, there will be less confusion than there would be passing plates from host who serves meat down to the hostess to serve vegetables. Better still, the hostess, at a serventless meal, may do all serving in the kitchen and bring in platters already prepared.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Parent Problem

By GARY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

PROBLEMS FACE FATHER-VETERAN

In many a family to which the father-veteran returns, life will go on fairly agreeably and happily. As a rule, those attitudes and ways to which the husband and wife were accustomed before he left for the armed forces will incline to persist, though there may be a number of necessary modifications.

Among the adaptations to be made will be those to the child or children. The older child may have changed considerably just from normal growth and development, since Dad donned the uniform. The baby he may never have seen before or be so young as not to remember him.

Noise And Confusion

The usual noises and confusions with young children may get on the father's nerves, especially if he has been in combat or under other serious emotional strain. Nor may the mother have the peace she had when he went away, thanks to all she has gone through.

Some of the returning fathers, typically those of very young children, may incline at first to pamper them and later, driven to desperation by them, these same dads may turn about to be very severe. It is my guess that a majority of the returning fathers will be impatient with any disobedience in the youngster over 6 or 8 (and he will see lots of 6-year-olds).

Mother's Fault

Then the mother may be charged with having been too lax in the child's discipline. In case such happens, conflicts may arise between the father and mother. The mother looking forward to the father's return would be pretty safe to employ pretty strict discipline of the child.

Should she find the father very severe with the children, she will make him worse if she takes up for them, when he corrects them, or angrily criticizes him in private. She will get best results if she will stiffen up herself and also compliment the father on his skill (however meager), at understanding the children and winning their cooperation. This also goes for any family.

Suffer From Jealousy

Both the father and children are in for some suffering from jealousy. The father, previous to his entering the armed forces, may have managed the family finances, his wife has been doing so since then. Suppose she wishes to continue to do so and he doesn't. Suppose he does not even want to work out a joint-management. Then, too, the wife may have a job paying her more than he can earn for some while. What effect will this have on his morale?

All these problems should grow less severe and more soluble if both the husband and wife will face them thoughtfully and try to iron them out by talking them over together calmly. There'll be many marvelous victories on the home front as many happy homes are reassembled through such measures.

Back of the discharge of William F. Davis as director of economic activities last (4) it cannot truthfully be called anything but a discharge is one of the most surprising official utterances accredited to a public official in many years. It was necessary for the President and the Secretary of Labor to disavow a statement by Davis that the government labor-post-war policy contemplated an increase of 40 per cent in industrial wages in one to five years.

Leaders of organized labor were not slow to seize upon this "renewal" as a basis for a nationwide program of wage demands. More modest than Mr. Davis, these leaders thus far have made a maximum demand of thirty per cent increase. The rank and file of the organizations naturally affirm the demands of their leaders, as they do in the belief that Mr. Davis was speaking with authority and that they would be supported by the administration. The result is a series of strikes and threatened strikes which may not only create a serious turmoil, but hold back reconversion and employment indefinitely.

Labor relations even under the best conditions frequently present serious economic problems. In the present situation they may be gravely complicated due to exaggerated hopes of government support for an extreme program.

Berle Makes Good Report From Brazil
U. S. Is Well Supplied With War Maps
Anti Draft Bil. Victory Is Indicated

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Reports from Rio de Janeiro are that Adolph A. Berle is making a good record in his capacity as United States ambassador to Brazil.

Berle was shifted from assistant secretary of state to the diplomatic post in the shakeup last winter that elevated Edward R. Stettinius to the secretaryship. At that time, there was considerable criticism of Berle's handling of the aviation conference at Chicago.

The former state department official is said to have pleased Brazilians by learning to speak Portuguese, something seldom done by United States diplomatic representatives.

The war over some of the old peacetime worries are returning to the state department. And one of them is the problem of obtaining foreign service officers who will not become expatriates.

This is encouraged by the fact that the junior diplomat gets a $6 daily living allowance while abroad in addition to his usually small salary, which may not be more than $2,500 a year.

Seventy Ships To Celebrate Navy Day In Delaware River

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—(INS)—The first peace time Navy Day celebration on October 27 will find the greatest concentration of war ships ever witnessed on the Delaware river.

Of the 70 ships slated to be on hand—craft ranging all the way from small destroyer escorts up to great battle ships—26 are coming particularly for the Navy Day celebration. The other 44 will be ships awaiting overhaul after fighting in the Pacific.

Heading the list of the "good sized task force" is the great battleship Washington which was launched in the Philadelphia navy yard on June 1, 1940. The Washington was the first American dreadnaught to sink a Japanese battleship.

Also coming is the Essex class aircraft carrier, Langley, launched at the New York shipbuilding yard in Camden in May 1943 with Mrs. Harry Hopkins acting as sponsor. The cruiser Philadelphia is also slated to return home.

Scheduled to tie up at Wilmington, Del., are the destroyer "Kumby," the destroyer escort "Fowler," the submarine "Sennet" and the minesweeper "Proctor." Scheduled for Camden, N. J., are the destroyer "Sheshee," the destroyer escort "De Long," the submarines "Seal" and "Blackfish" and the LST 533.

War Termination Of Contracts Will Be Considered

The Youngstown Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants has arranged a special meeting at Tippecanoe Country club for their members and friends on Wednesday, October 10, 1945. Dinner will be served at 6:45 p. m. and the meeting will get under way at 8 p. m.

The chapter will be informed on the latest problems of contract termination through the courtesy of the Cleveland Ordnance Division, which is sending Lt. H. W. Schaeffer, C. P. A., and Warrant Officer James Donahue, C. P. A., to talk in the subject, "X Y Z of Contract Termination." Many companies in the valley are vitally interested in this subject, which, as the name implies, will deal with the closing up of war contracts.

Many new problems have replaced old problems and it is felt that every one can benefit by attending the meeting and getting clear cut ideas regarding their specific problems from two men, who know the answers from the beginning to the end of contract termination.

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be too tight blood. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acid and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 5 pints a day. When disorder strikes, the kidneys permit the poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg aches, loss of sleep, dizziness, ringing up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or constant urination with stinging and stinging sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

STATE COLLEGE, Oct. 9.—There'll be an extra pound of turkey for everybody at the family table this Thanksgiving, a Pennsylvania State college expert promised today.

Paul H. Margott, assistant professor of poultry husbandry, says turkeys not only are more plentiful but also are a lot larger than they were during the war years.

This year's crop, he reports, will total 44,000,000 birds—a 22 per cent increase over last year and approximately 44 per cent higher than the five-year average from 1939 to 1943.

Pennsylvania, he reminds, will produce 1,670,000 birds this year. This gives the Keystone state eighth place in the national standing. California, Texas and Minnesota rank one, two, three in the nation, and together contribute nearly 30 per cent of the total national supply.

In spite of the increase, the Penn State specialist advises consumers to place orders early to help offset transportation and labor shortage difficulties.

Russia Has Rejected Argentine Proposal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Russia has rejected an Argentine proposal that the two governments establish diplomatic relations, it was disclosed Monday by a responsible diplomatic source.

The conversations, it was said, began about three weeks ago through a third power in Latin America, believed to be either Brazil or Uruguay, although specific identification was not available in Washington.

Spurlock Braden, ambassador of Argentina, was informed of the conversations before he left to return to the United States.

The authority who disclosed the Russian action said that Argentine Dictator Peron had told Braden that the discussions would take place, but failed to mention the fact, considered essential to officials here, that he had made the attempt at establishing relations.

Braden interpreted the move as indicating that Peron realized he was in a difficult position and was seeking to gain Russian acceptance of his regime in order to counterbalance the open displeasure of the United States with the present government.

The "Last of the First Club," composed of Marines who participated in the initial landing on Guadalcanal, was organized in New Orleans on the third anniversary of the invasion on August 7.

AROUND CITY HALL

Council on Monday ordered that Kelley & Meyers, resurfacing contractors be paid $9,609.73, it having been certified by City Engineer John Z. Street that Lincoln avenue and Crawford Terrace resurfacing had been completed.

John Z. Street, city engineer, on Monday, placed stakes where a shelter house is to be erected at the Big Run playground. The City Recreation commission plans to erect several shelters at playgrounds.

John Termina appeared before city council at Monday's meeting and complained against the Cascade street dump which he urged be removed. Council listened to the complaint and said they would view the dump.

When council talked bus transportation for Monday, Safety Director O. O. Davies urged colleagues that a definite plan be arranged so that council would be fortified when a conference which was indicated would be held with the bus officials is staged.

Here are a few of the supplies that the city has purchased and for which bills have been ordered paid: duplicate books ($265); weighing garbage ($11.80); oxygen ($6.57); for life-saving devices; radio (police) repairs, ($21.00); paper towels for city employees ($3.35).

Health Director D. O. Davies today reported to colleagues that following a complaint, Davies had communicated with the water company and been assured that adequate service to the Bodnar residence, Electric street, would be made. It had been reported there was a leak somewhere and the home could only be serviced via a hose from an adjoining property. The leak was found at the curb box.

When a sewer line was damaged badly last winter in preventing an ice jam in the Shenango river, at the Big Run the city was called upon this summer to pay for the rental of equipment to move the line into its proper place, hence council ordered $335 paid for the rental today. Council also ordered a furnace, at a cost of $350, from the Ball Furnace & Heating company. It will be placed in Smithfield street firehouse. The solons also authorized the purchase of indicators and tapes for all firehouses so that all fire alarms will be recorded.

Contradictions Confront Jury In Lumberman's Trial

Ferrell Repudiates Accusation That Valenti Committed Memorial Day Killing

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa., Oct. 9.—(INS)—A jury of seven men and five women prepared today at Tunkhannock to deliberate the fate of 31-year-old Kenneth Ferrell, of Loyalsville, accused of slaying Charles Randall, 37, on Memorial Day near Harveys Lake.

The jury was confronted with a series of accusations, denials and contradictory statements which came out of a week of testimony in the crowded Wyoming county courtroom.

In one of four statements attributed to Ferrell when taken into custody, he accused Nick Valenti, of Wyoming, of slaying Randall but yesterday the Luzerne county lumberman repudiated the charge. Asked why he had changed the alleged statements, Ferrell testified: "I was making up a different statement and had to change things around."

Denies Statements
When called to the witness stand yesterday, Valenti denied knowing Ferrell but Rudy Lamoreux, of Tunkhannock R.D., testified that he saw Valenti introduced to Ferrell at the Randall home.

Ferrell showing signs of emotion for the first time, flatly denied the alleged statements. When asked by District Attorney Robert Trembath why he "lied," Ferrell said he was to ill to realize the importance of the alleged statements.

Police Chief Fred Swanson, of Harveys Lake, was recalled to the stand and swore that Ferrell had made the statements after Randall's bullet-riddled and blood-soaked body was found.

Mrs. Florence Randall, 38, widow of the victim, has been indicted by a grand jury for alleged participation in the plot. She faces trial when the Ferrell case has been completed.

Trembath has asked the jury to find Ferrell guilty while the defendant has pleaded innocent.

The second will be at the John Shaw farm, just east of Volant, in Washington township, at 5 p. m. Thursday.

Film Industry Strikers Continue To Picket Studio

BURBANK, Calif., Oct. 9.—(INS)—Film industry strikers continued today to ignore an injunction limiting their line to 18 pickets and massed in force before Warner Brothers studio where a riot yesterday resulted in injury to 80 persons.

Non-strikers accepting dares of strikers to try and smash picket lines, yesterday formed a phalanx, forced their way through and set off a wild battle in which men and women were felled by flailing fists, clubs, chains and blackjacks.

Some 600 non-union workers entered the studio. While they worked on pictures being prepared for production, no filming of scenes was done during the day. Cameramen members of an independent union failed to report for work, halting production on the one picture scheduled to have been before the cameras.

Current disorders at Warner Brothers, which began last Friday, are the result of an effort on the part of the strikers to force a decision in a prolonged union jurisdictional dispute.

HERE'S YOUR ASSURANCE THAT NOW

YOUR BABY GETS MORE VITAMIN D in Improved WILSON'S MILK

NOW YOU GET THREE TIMES AS MUCH VITAMIN D

Because of the nutritional importance of Vitamin D, food scientists realized the necessity for finding a way to supply more of this "sunshine" vitamin. At first additional Vitamin D was put in evaporated milk by "irradiation." By this process 135 units were added to every pint. Now scientists have found a way of greatly increasing this amount—with a Vitamin D concentrate known as D₂. By using D₂, Wilson's has raised its Vitamin D content to 400 units per pint—three times as much as formerly supplied by "irradiation." That's why the word "irradiated" no longer appears on the Wilson's Milk label.

Now every pint of improved Wilson's Milk contains 400 U.S.P. units of Vitamin D, the recommended minimum daily requirement, specified by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration.

Scientific research shows that babies need 400 units of Vitamin D to assure proper growth. Now your baby gets three times as much of this "sunshine" vitamin as before in improved Wilson's Milk... full 400 units in every reconstituted quart (one pint of Wilson's Milk plus one pint of water).

Here is a dependable and adequate source of Vitamin D. What a comfort it is to know that when your baby gets improved Wilson's, he is assured of his normal daily Vitamin D requirement in his feedings of milk alone.

Your grocer has it... and it's point-free. Look for the blue and white label—and be sure you get Wilson's, the milk that's now three times richer in Vitamin D.

This Seal means that all nutritional statements made here are acceptable to the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association.

The Seal of the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation is your assurance of the reliable Vitamin D potency of Wilson's Evaporated Milk.

Funeral Today For Late Island King

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Funeral services for Warrant Officer Faustin E. Winkus, the marine who became king of a West Indies island, were held today in the Brooklyn naval hospital chapel.

Burial will take place tomorrow at the National cemetery, Arlington, Va.

Winkus, who died after a lingering illness, was ruler of Lagonave, a small island off Port Au Prince, from 1925 to 1931. He was assigned there as administrator by the Marines to quell trouble.

He learned secrets of voodoo and black magic never before known by a white man. When he abdicated in 1931 he wrote a book, "The White King of Lagonave" with Toney Dudley. Later, Winkus lectured and became a Wall Street customer's man.

Reindeer were originally imported from Siberia to Alaska to provide its people with meat and hides.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS)—The War and State Departments disclosed today that Great Britain is whittling down her lend-lease account with this nation at the rate of five million dollars a month by transporting American troops from Europe.

Great Britain checks off $100 from the account, which balanced under nine billion dollars as of June 30, 1945, for each American serviceman transported in British vessels. This was provided in an agreement entered into by the United States and the British Ministry of War Transport. American troops moved between V-E and V-J Day reduced Britain's lend-lease debt by one million, 120 thousand dollars.

An estimated 50,000 United States soldiers now are being transported per month by the Queen Mary, Queen Elizabeth and Aquatania. The two queens were said to carry 18,000 each on the voyages.

The British agency which collaborated with the American government on the agreement chartered the queens and reserved space on the vessels for traveling G. I.'s.

Hope For Solution Of Impasse Set At London Parley

U. S. State Department Officials Are Hopeful For Solution Of Foreign Ministers' Deadlock

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS)—State Department officials were hopeful today that a solution will soon be found for the impasse created at the abortive first meeting of the council of foreign ministers.

The hope was based largely on the reports in Pravda that Russia favors the inclusion of Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Poland in any future discussion of the drafting of a peace treaty for Italy or the Balkan Axis satellites—Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria.

The United States was not believed inclined to accept participation of the liberated states proposed by Moscow as the final solution. But it gave them a hint that Russia, no less than the western powers, would like to find a solution to the problem which has caused so much popular concern in the democracies.

Trial Balloon

Russia's suggestion, although unofficial, was regarded as a real trial balloon. Conversations were believed already going on which look to the finding of a formula which will permit the Allied powers to get together on some basis for the preparation of peace treaties.

The United States was understood to be in any peace treaty discussions concerning Europe. It was also believed to be less insistent on the inclusion of China in European talks. China itself is reportedly not determined to have a voice in this area.

The Pravda suggestion, however, appeared to Americans to have one weakness, despite the fact that the three nations were among the first victims of Axis aggression. They are all under governments created with the primary understanding that they are friendly to Moscow.

If the council of foreign ministers were broadened to include these powers for the purpose of the Italian and eastern European settlements, Foreign Commissar Molotov probably could count on four votes on Russia's side.

SWEET POTATO PIE

Of all the pies for which American cooks are famous, the favorite with many is the hearty pie filled with yellow sweet potato custard.

The following recipe for sweet potatoes pie comes from home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It requires no sugar.

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons fat, melted; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/2 cup corn sirup or sugar sirup; 1-4 cup orange juice; 1 teaspoon grated orange rind; 2 cups mashed sweet potatoes; 1 or 2 eggs, separated; 1/2 cup milk. To make: Add fat, salt, Sirup, orange juice and grated rind to the hot mashed sweet potatoes. Add beaten egg yolks and milk. Beat well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Pour this mixture into a 10-inch baked pie shell and bake in a moderate oven 30 to 40 minutes.

State AAA Will Continue To Fix Production Goals

Session In December Will Fix 1946 Goals, To Cover Foreign, Domestic Needs

HARRISBURG, Oct. 9.—(INS)—The State Agriculture Adjustment agency announced today that food production goals would be continued this year at the request of farm representatives.

Chairman Clyde A. Zehner said that 1946 goals, designed to assure sufficient domestic and foreign supplies, would be fixed for Pennsylvania farmers during a conference at Harrisburg in December. Crop goals were a part of the war time food plan.

He indicated the program would emphasize individual commodities rather than a general production increase. Averages will be based on military and foreign relief requirements as well as the credit status of stricken countries, he explained.

County Delegates

Counties will be asked to send one delegate for each commercial food product raised, Zehner said. The state-wide session will be followed by county convales, he added. "It will be the duty of the delegates to determine whether counties will be able to meet the goals under current conditions and prices," he stated.

Zehner predicted most crop goals would remain at 1945 levels, although potatoes, currently a record yield may be reduced slightly. The effect of the milk industry of the withdrawal of federal subsidies would be discussed, he added.

"The establishment of goals brings good results," Zehner declared. "Some products are good one year and ruinous the next and the setting of goals gives farmers an idea about what to reduce and what to increase."

He said farm leaders had expressed a desire to continue the practice established in 1942. "It serves to focus the farmer's attention on the need for specific items," he stated.

Help Shortage Affects Hospitals

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Allegheny county's 26 hospitals today faced possible curtailment of facilities because of the shortage of help.

W. A. Hacker, president of the hospital conference of Pittsburgh, pointed out that nurses were leaving hospitals to be with discharged husbands and those women leaving war plants were accepting unemployment compensation rather than work for the wages hospitals can afford to pay.

He said if the situation gets worse, the institutions will be forced to close some wards.

Federal Payroll Reduction Is Need Declares Governor

Demobilization Of Armed Forces As Speedily As Possible Urged By Martin

BUCKINGHAM, Pa., Oct. 9.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin was campaigning today for demobilization of the armed forces as soon as "consistent with national safety" and the immediate reduction of the federal payroll.

He told members of the Loyal Republican club at Buckingham last night that his recommendations were prompted by a need for "thrift in all levels of government."

"We must fix the size of our army of occupation in both Germany and Japan," he declared, "in this we must depend upon the opinion of experts. The ability of our enemies to make war must be destroyed. The future actions must be watched and controlled."

Rapid Demobilization
"The size of the peacetime army and navy of the United States should be determined and the manner of maintaining these services should be arranged. Demobilization to peacetime strength should be as rapid as is consistent with national safety."

Governor Martin called for the adoption of a definite financial policy on foreign loans and aid to veterans.

"All of us need to be reminded that there is a tremendous difference between a government with no debt and a government with a debt that will reach about 300 billions," he stated. "Powerful as it is, the federal government cannot do what it once did. First it must get on its financial feet and it is the job of all of us to get it there."

"It is our No. 1 job to keep America solvent. The federal government must live within its means. It must have a balanced budget just the same as a business or an individual."

The ceremony was brief and Huffman was congratulated by his new colleagues.

The new senator has not yet been assigned office space. It was understood, but temporarily will use that previously held by his predecessor, Republican Senator Burton.

Cancel Session Of War Crimes Tribunal

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Failure of Soviet delegates to appear today forced postponement of a scheduled meeting of the Nuremberg war crimes tribunal.

Frozen Food Plant On Croton Avenue Is Opened; First Of Kind Here

New Castle's newest industry, frozen foods, got under way Monday when the F. W. Walker company opened at 426 Croton avenue. All day long and today, visitors have inspected the new food locker layout and approval of the idea seems universal. The F. W. Walker company is the first automatic frozen food locker system to be installed in the country.

The actual food lockers are but a part of the plant. The lockers are in three banks, with 160 storage cupboards and drawers in each, a total of 480, all but a very few of which are taken. Each bank of drawers or cupboards is on a revolving unit. The customer sets the gauge, presses a button and the panel in which his draw or cupboard is located comes to the front. It is then a simple matter to unlock the drawer or cupboard and take out what is wanted.

Back of the locker banks are the processing rooms. Here workers will prepare all kinds of meats, kill and dress poultry, or process fruits and vegetables.

The company was brought here through the efforts of the Greater New Castle Association.

Seek To Amend 'Bill Of Rights' For U. S. Vets

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Gen. Omar Bradley, veterans administrator, told Congress Monday that weekly unemployment compensation payments to veterans under the G.I. bill have almost tripled between May and September, reaching $1,266 on September 22.

Bradley made his report to a Senate finance subcommittee opening hearings on a series of bills amending the G.I. Bill of Rights. At the same time, the quiet-spoken four-star general took the position that veterans benefits should continue to be administered by one agency, rather than be scattered among several government units. He referred to a suggestion that the loan provisions of the G.I. bill might better be shifted to the Federal Housing Administration.

"It seems clear to me," he said, "that the responsibility must carry with it the policy making as well as the administrative functions."

Big Jump In Payments
General Bradley touched only briefly on the volume of jobless benefits already paid out under the G.I. bill. But he called attention to the big jump in payments following V-E Day.

In May, he told the committee, the weekly rate was $836, involving $649,945.

By the week of September 22, this had reached $1,266, at one million, 953 thousand 439 dollars, he said.

To date, a total of 24 million, 695 thousand dollars have been paid out in unemployment compensation under the G.I. bill, Bradley added. The general testified that the "greatest amount of controversy" has arisen over the loan guarantee provisions of the 1944 act. But he emphasized that from the beginning "great misunderstanding" has existed on that phase of the program.

"In some way," he said, "the impression was broadcast, even to the most far-flung battlefronts, that all the discharged veterans had to do was to take his honorable discharge certificate to some place and be handed out two thousand dollars."

Modifications Proposed
He proposed these "minor modifications":

1. Extension of the two-year limitation on the ground that it is "inflationary." Many veterans, Bradley said, will not be able to take advantage of the loan setup within two years from discharge or end of the war.

2. Make requirements on "reasonable normal value" apply to the loan rather than to purchase price. This would let the vet pay a "market price" if he wished but the loan amount would be limited to reasonable normal value.

3. Broaden farm loans to include feed, supplies and improvements on land and buildings. Broaden business loans to include "proper cases," inventory and working capital.

4. Replace the guarantee provision on non-real estate loans with provisions for insurance.

Red Cross Plans Three New Classes For Home Nursing

Red Cross home nursing classes are again being planned as the local Red Cross chapter finds itself in the unusual position of having enough instructors to conduct the course even before the students are signed up and the classes scheduled, says Miss Elizabeth Breslin, executive secretary of the chapter.

Three classes two of which would be in the daytime would consist of 24 hours of instruction in care of the sick and treatment of injuries and burns.

Interested persons have already signed up for the course and others may do so at the Red Cross chapter house on Beaver street. Since the war began, an average of eight home nursing classes a year have been given in the county, four of them in Ellwood City. Two of the Ellwood City classes are in the high schools, with 145 high schoolers receiving certificates last year.

CIVIL COURT OPENS

Civil court opened Monday morning in both court rooms, with a list slightly longer than the usual term has been for some time.

In court room number one the case of Anna Mae Rainier versus Thomas G. Vaughan went to trial. The case is one in which the plaintiff claims damages arising out of an automobile accident on North Jefferson street on October 13, 1944 between 11 and 12 p.m. It is claimed the defendant tried to pass the car of the plaintiff and that a collision resulted.

In court room number two the case of Andrew Pfahler against Ralph Heller was settled for $3200. This was a case tried in October 1944 in which Mr. Pfahler claimed payment for a house erected for defendant. A verdict of $3566.12 was given and a new trial asked for and granted. The settlement obviates the necessity of a new trial.

REJECT ALL BIDS

All bids presented to the county commissioners for the new card index file equipment and 50,000 cards were rejected without being opened Monday morning. After the original advertisement was published, the commissioners decided to split the specifications to give printing companies the right to bid upon the cards alone. New advertisements will be authorized.

MILITARY BALLOTS

Seven military ballots have been received by the county commissioners with Staff Sergeant John O. "Jack" Potter, son of Register and Recorder Orville Potter arriving first of the overseas ballots.

Sergeant Potter has been stationed in the Aleutians and for some time has been at Cold Bay. His ballot left Cold Bay on October 3 and arrived here on October 6 which is fast time.

ELECTION REGULATIONS

At the meeting of the county commissioners Monday a set of rules was adopted covering first voters and military voters. Citizens who are "first" voters and will be twenty one on or before November 7, the day after election must be registered to vote in November. If they are not now enrolled they cannot vote on age. Registration for citizens is closed.

Voters in the armed forces who have been discharged since September 16 may register at any time up to election day. The board suggests that if such voters were enrolled before entering the service they check with the registration board to see if their registration has been cancelled.

Voters in the military service may cast ballots whether or not they are registered. Voters who have been discharged from the armed forces may NOT vote upon military ballots but must register and vote with other civilians at their home polling place on election day.

Military ballots may be obtained from the elections bureau and voted any time between now and election day.

Willkie Memorial Dedicated Monday

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(INS)—President Truman on Monday described the late Wendell Willkie as "a great and dynamic personality" in ceremonies dedicating the Willkie Memorial building of Freedom House.

The President's message, read by actress Helen Hayes, was one of several from national leaders, including Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and the British, Chinese and French ambassadors to the United States.

"It was not in his nature to temporize where principle was involved, and whenever his country's interest was at stake he was a fearless patriot," said President Truman in his tribute to the 1940 Republican standard-bearer.

The building, at 20 West 40th street, was draped in white bunting with flags of all the United Nations fluttering overhead.

The witch hazel, a North American shrub or small tree, sometimes attains a height of 20 to 30 feet. The clustered yellow flowers appear very late in the autumn, and the fruits ripen the following year.

"Destination Beyond Victory"

Hearts sang

...sang in the foxholes, the cockpits, the gun turrets, the torpedo rooms, the far-off prison camps

...sang in the factories, stores, offices; in the mines and shipyards and roundhouses

...sang on the farms, in the villages and cities, in the homes of all the land.

That was Victory.

In these weeks that have followed, the shift from war to peace is on, full swing.

Hands that made and used the tools of war reach now for the tools of peace. Jobs, not Japs, are the nation's No. 1 concern.

Hearts must keep on singing

...singing at productive jobs for real wages, turning out the things a goods-hungry people want. Thereby we will attain the goal that was set before us, shortly before the war's end, by the Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion:

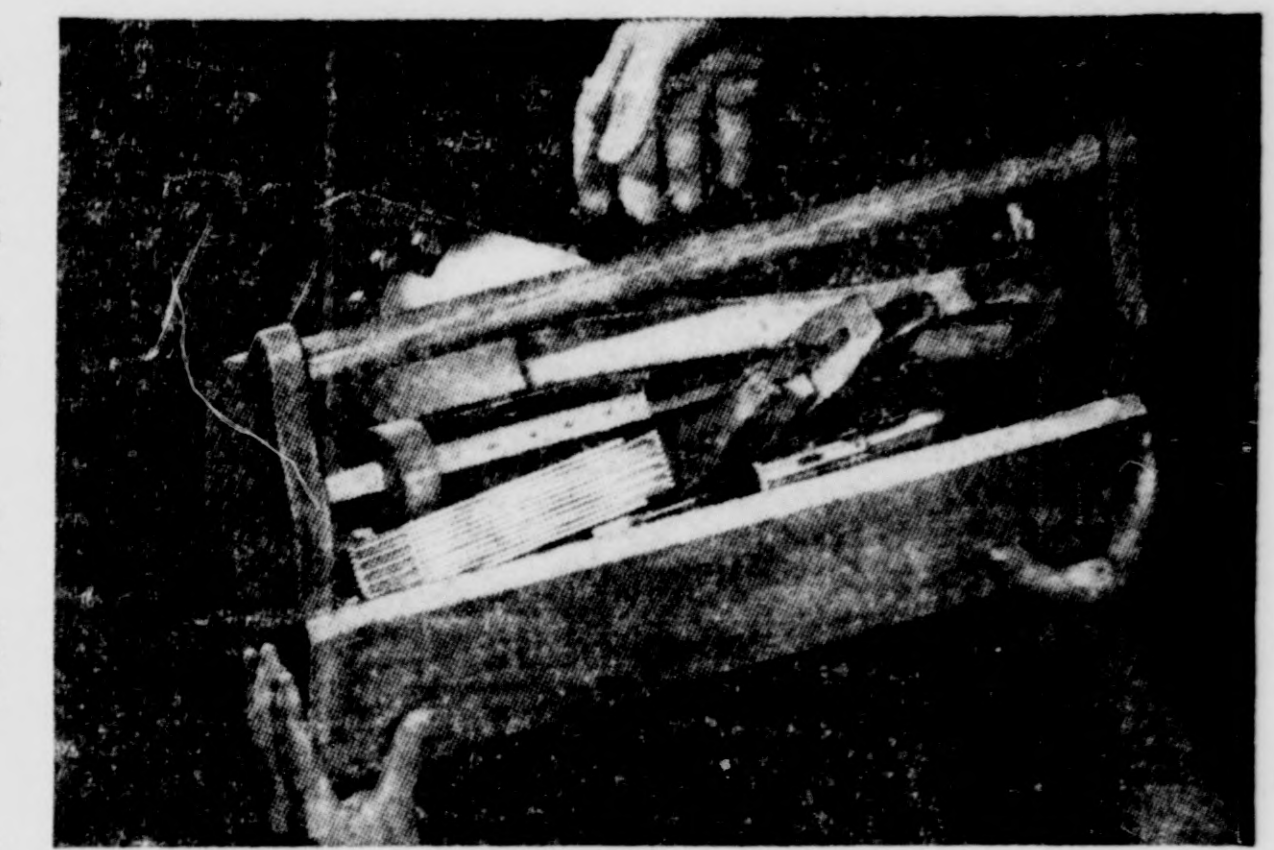

"We must look ahead to a destination beyond victory, to the kind of America in which the victorious members of the armed forces, together with all citizens, may enjoy the fruits of their bitterly-fought, hard-won victory."

As we drive ahead toward this destination beyond victory, what better time than now for a straight look at what makes jobs?

Jobs don't "just happen." Today, as always, they have to be planned for, tooled-up for... paid for... before they can be worked at.

For every existing job in major industry, there first had to be an investment of thousands of dollars in plant, equipment, raw materials. All the millions in America could not pay for more than a tiny fraction of this mighty total.

There is only one way, under freedom, by which the billions of dollars can be provided to make the millions of jobs. And that is through investment by the great mass of the people. America's miracle of mass production could never have been, without this twin miracle of mass investment.

In this vast machinery for mass investment, the New York Stock Exchange performs an essential function. It maintains, sound and efficient, an ever-present market at openly disclosed prices for the securities of American industry.

Without this Exchange, and the other organized financial markets of our country, millions would not have dared become security owners. For, added to the normal risk of loss that is ever present in any form of ownership for profit, there would then have been a prohibitive new risk—lack of a ready market. No one would buy what he could not be sure of selling.

This Exchange, the companies whose securities are listed on it, the investors who use its facilities—all share a high duty in this vital hour of our national life. That duty is to perform responsibly, so that mass investment may yield its utmost benefits in the mass production of goods, of jobs. Thus will we achieve our destination beyond victory.

Ask for information about securities. The facts can be found where you see this sign, "Member, New York Stock Exchange." Be informed... rely on facts, not hearsay... responsible ownership will make a vital contribution to America's progress.

Army Claims 14,000 Doctors Will Get Christmas Releases

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS)—The war department promised today that "at least" 14,000 doctors will be discharged from the army by Christmas.

Brig Gen Robert W. Berry, acting chief of staff for personnel told the house military committee that about one thousand doctors were discharged last week.

"The rate is continually going up," he said.

Doctors and nurses overseas have been given the "highest priority" and are being returned home by plane, he added, "so we can discharge them earlier."

Six thousand doctors have been returned from Europe since V-E day, he stated.

U. S. Zone Military Rule End Nov. 15

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—(INS)—The U. S. Army announced today that by November 15 it would end military government in the counties and cities in its zone of occupation and turn the administrative duties over to local German officials.

The Office of Military Government which rules the U. S. zone, said the step would be taken to "permit the German people to develop a free government shaped to fit the needs of Germany."

A spokesman said the move will result in a simpler control administrative machinery by the army.

It is claimed that with the protection being given the giant sequoia trees of California, some of them will probably live to be 10,000 years of age.

Bavaria is the second largest state of Germany, with an area of some 30,000 square miles.

Civil Government Will Be Restored In American Zone

Two Thousand U. S. Military Government Officers Will Be Withdrawn From Posts

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—(INS).—United States military authorities revealed today that the transition from military to civil government in the American occupied zone of Germany will result in the withdrawal of approximately 2,000 military government officers from present administrative posts.

The U. S. military men will be withdrawn by November 15 from positions in 40 incorporated cities, 10,766 towns and 209 counties.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said that by January 1, 1946, all of Germany's administrative units would be in the hands of German officials. These German will be charged with executing the broad policies laid down by the army "at the highest level."

An army spokesman explained that when the Germans take over the occupation forces would no longer participate directly in the government in a functional role but would supervise the administrative machinery.

This supervision will cut across state or provincial boundaries.

For administrative purposes, the American zone will be treated as three main districts. These will include an area roughly approximating the whole of Bavaria, the province of Hesse and part of North Rhine, and part of Wurttemberg and Baden.

All army military government will cease by December 31, except in these three administrative districts.

Research Program Runs Into Dispute

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS).—Supporters of a federally-financed scientific research program split sharply today on who should run it—the scientists themselves or a director picked by the President.

As hearing on rival bills got under way before Senate Military and Commerce subcommittees, a fight developed on how the director should be appointed.

The split centers about the difference between the original bill of Sen. Kilgore (D., W. Va.) and Sen. Magnuson (D., Wash.).

Kilgore's bill calls for a director appointed by the President with the consent of the Senate. Magnuson's calls for the board of scientists to name the director and prescribe his duties.

Prolific Causes Of Fires Given

Careless Smoking And Use Of Matches Cited As Chief Fire Cause

Citing careless smoking and use of matches as the most prolific cause of fires, the National Board of Fire Underwriters listed misuse of electrical equipment as second, and pointed out that defective chimneys, stoves and furnaces, use of inflammable liquids for cleaning and accumulations of rubbish contribute to a vast majority of home fires.

"One of the main reasons for holding Fire Prevention Week," now in progress, stated the board, "is to have an opportunity to concentrate and focus public attention on these simple causes of fire which are so frequently overlooked. A spectacular fire like the gas explosion in Cleveland last fall attracts worldwide attention because of its unusual character. Yet day after day in thousands of small fires, resulting from careless use of matches, pouring of kerosene into a stove to facilitate starting a fire, permitting rubbish to accumulate in the basement or attic, and other equally non-spectacular causes, just as many lives and just as great property values are destroyed as resulted from this unique conflagration."

Huge Destruction
"Even in postwar days, no nation regardless how prosperous, can afford to squander its human and economic resources as America does each year in permitting fires to destroy so many lives and such great property values. In the past 12 months, fire destroyed property valued at $444,225,000 in all classes of buildings. Each year, on the average, 10,000 persons are killed by fire."

Looking to the days ahead, the board emphasized that full employment will be the primary objective of the American people. Business men will be striving in every way to provide jobs for the returning veterans and for civilian workers who have been displaced from war-time employment.

"Let us remember," said the board's statement, "that a substantial number of industrial plants or commercial enterprises destroyed by fire never resume business. Workers are deprived of their jobs and opportunities for reemployment for years or lost. Accordingly, it is suggested that all citizens take a few minutes out of their busy lives during the Fire Prevention Week not only to think about some of these problems, but to take active steps to eliminate the hazards which may exist in their homes and places of work or recreation before it is too late."
